

Recovery & Involvement

Laura Lea, Julia Fountain, Susie Goodbrand
PPI Team

Patient & Public Involvement (PPI)

Involving people in designing, running and telling people about the results of mental health research in the NHS.

The PPI team work together to recruit and support people to be involved.

You don't need to know about research to take part: we can offer training and support.

Involving patients and the public in research

Recruitment: diverse and inclusive

Recovery, Involvement & Impact

A Lived Experience Perspective

By Liv Pontin

Ensuring we have effective policies and procedures

A teaching trust of Brighton and Sussex Medical School

Sussex Partnership
NHS Foundation Trust

Sussex Partnership NHS Foundation Trust: Research and Development Department

Patient Public Involvement (PPI) Confidentiality and Data Sharing Agreement

This document explains what you need to agree to in order to take part in Patient and Public Involvement and how we will manage and store your personal data on our secure database. Please read through the document carefully, write your initials or tick next to each statement to show you understand and agree, and sign at the bottom.

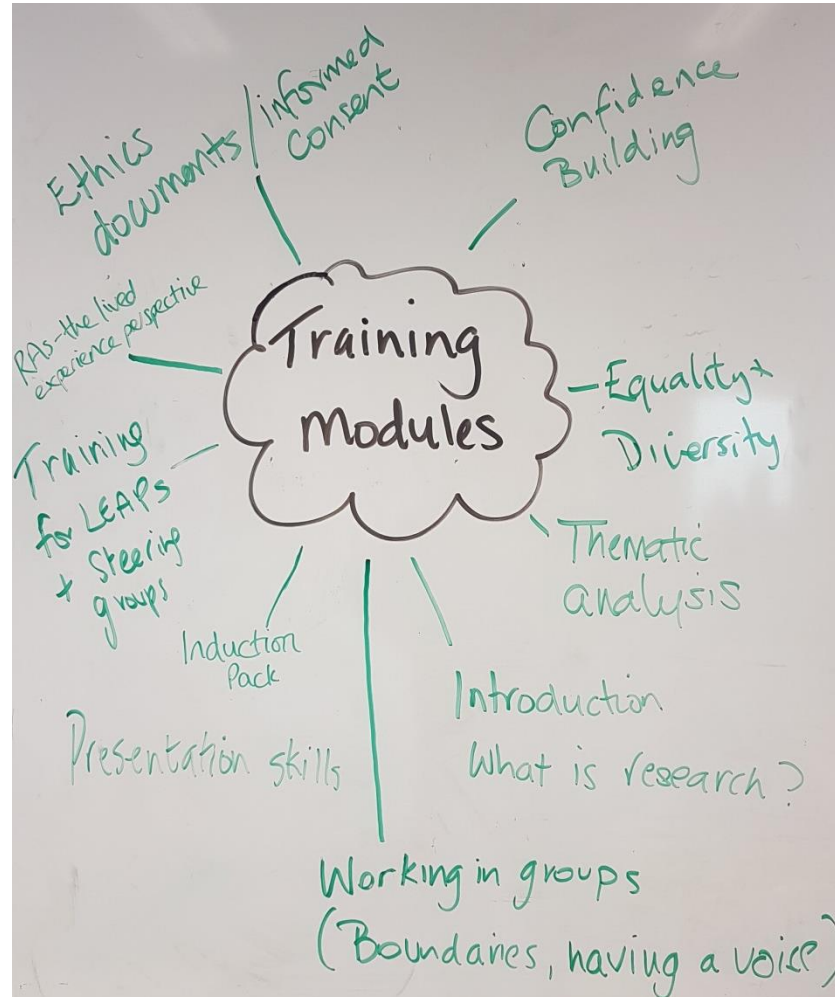

Name:
Address:
Email address:
Telephone number:
1. I understand that the contact details I have given above will be used by the PPI team in the course of my involvement work and will be stored on a secure

Partnership – working collaboratively with everyone

Developing training to support people

Examples of Involvement

- ENHANCe: training emergency service personnel - attitudes to mental health
- Symbad: randomised control trial looking at reducing agitation in people with dementia
- SlowMo: using an app and website to reduce fear of harm for people experiencing paranoia

How to get involved

Do you know anyone who knows anyone who might be interested?

Current opportunities

- Dementia and Older People's Mental Health
- Personality, Emergency Care & Complex Needs
- Brain & Body
- Voices Clinic
- OCD Clinic
- Flourishing Families Clinic
- Lived Experience Advisory Forum (LEAF)
(Young people and Learning disabilities)

Contact us

Email:

InvolvementInResearch@sussexpartnership.nhs.uk

Expression of interest form

Any questions?